General Description of the Purkeville Hydropathic Institute.

The main building is three stories high, standing back from the street about one hundred feet, with a semicircular grass plot in front, and contains thirty to forty rooms. The grounds around the house are tastefully laid out with walks and phated with trees, shrubs, &c. On the left of the entrance to these grounds is a cottage containing four rooms, used by male patients as a bathing house, with every convenience for "packing," bathing, &c.; on the right of the entrance, about two hundred feet distant, stands a similar cottage, used by the ladies for similar purposes.

well as into the main building, and all the waste water carried off by drains under ground.

THE WATER WORKS

Consist of a circular stone building, standing on the brow off a hill, surmounted by a large cedar reservoir containing five hundred barrels, brought from a never-failing spring of pure cold water in the side of the hill, by "a hydraulic ram," a self-acting machine of cast iron, that is kept constantly going, night and day, by the descent of the water from the spring. The surplus water is carried from the reservoir to a fountain in the water-works yard, surrounded by weeping willows. In the first story of the water-works is a circular room, containing the douche bath, which is a stream fulling from a height of about thirty feet, and can be varied in size from half an inch to an inch and a half in diameter. Adjoining the douche room is a dressing room, with marble tables, &c.; the rising disease (for the cure of piles, &c.) is one of the most complete contrivances of the kind, being entirely under the courted of the patient using the same.

There are many other appliances, which can be better understood by a personal examination.

Just published by R. SEARS, and for sale at No. 12 Nassau street, New York. A MERICAN GIFT BOOKS FOR 1851.—Agents are wanted to circulate the following new and beautiful works, (retail price, $2 50 per vol.) A new and complete PICTORIAL HISTORY OF CHINA AND INDIA;

In which the editor has treated not only of the historical events, but also of the manners, customs, religion, literature, and domestic habits of the people of those immense empires.

price, $2 50 per volume. Orders respectfully solicited.

SEARS' PIOTORIAL FAMILY PUBLICATIONS are decidedly the best books that agents can possibly employ their time in supplying to the people of the United States. They are valuable for reference, and should be possessed by every family in this great republic. There is not a city or town in these United States, not even those of small importance, but contains many citizens to whom these works are indispensable. They are adapted to the literary wants of the Christian, the patriot, the statesman, and the domestic circle, got up in a superior style of art and workmanship; and are not only such books as will sell, but are such as an agent of good principle will feel free to recommend, and willing to see the purchaser again after they have been bought.

free to recommend, and willing to see the purchaser again after they have been bought.

Our Plan.—The plan the publisher has so successfully carried out for several years, is the obtaining responsible men as agents, who are well known in their own counties, towns, and villages, and have time and disposition to circulate good and instructive books among their neighbors and friends. Any person wishing to embark in the enterprise will risk little in sending $25 or $50, for which he will receive an assertment as he may direct, at the whole-will receive an assortment as ne may an expectability and good sale cash prices.

Enterprising and active men of respectability and good address, would do well to engage in the sale of the above volumes; and all postmasters, elergymen, book pedlars, and newspaper agents, are respectfully requested to as sour agents. A handsome remuneration allowed to all who engage in their sale. For particulars address, post paid,

AMERICAN TELEGRAPH

For the American Telegraph SONNET.

Dear mother! when, within my own home bower, From the day's busy scenes I calmly rest, Sweet thoughts of home find entrance to my bre Of home and thee; and, with a gentle power, Mem'ry doth bring to mind each happy hour My childhood knew, when on my spirit bright Beamed, every day, thy loving eyes' pure light, As starlight beams upon the tender flower.

And though from thee my lot has been to roam. Whene'er fair Hesperus adorns the night It doth recall the milder, dearer light That shone the fairest in the sky of home; And still my spirit owns its soothing sway, And will will own until life's latest day!

BOYS. To the Editors of the American Telegraph. GENTLEMEN: I find the following in a distant newspaper. Will you please publish it, and greatly oblige one who has been a boy?

Boys our AFTER NIGHTFALL.-I have been an observer, as I am a sympathizing lover, of boys. I like to see them happy, cheerful, gleesome. I am not willing that they be cheated out of the rightful heritage of youth. Indeed, I cannot understand how a high-toned, useful man can be the ripened fruit of a boy who has not enjoyed a fair share of the glad privileges due to youth. But while I watch with a jealous eye all rights and customs which intrench upon the proper rights of boys, I am equally apprehensive lest parents who are not forethoughtful, and who have not habituated themselves to close observation upon this subject, permit their sons indulgences which are almost certain to result in their demoralization, if not in their total ruin; and among the habits which I have observed as tending most surely to ruin, I know of none more prominent than that of parents permitting their sons to be in the street after nightfall. It is ruinous to their morals in all instances. They acquire, under the cover of night, an unhealthful state of mind; bad, vulgar, immoral and profane language, obscene practices, crim-inal sentiments, a lawless and riotous bearing. Indeed, it is in the street after nightfall that the boys principally acquire the education of the bad, and capacity for becoming rowdy, disso-lute, criminal men. Parents should in this par-ticular have a rigid and inflexible rule that never will permit a son, under any circumstances whatever, to go in the streets after nightfall, with a view of engaging in out-of-door sports, or meet other boys for social or chance occupation. A rigid rule of this kind, invariably adhered to, will soon deaden the desire for Boys should be taught to have pleasures around the family centre-table, in reading, in conversation, and in quiet amusements. Boys, gentlemen's sons, are seen in the streets after nightfall behaving in a manner entirely de-structive of all good morals. Fathers and mothers, keep your children home at night, and see that you take pains to make your homes pleasant, attractive, and profitable to them; and, above all, with a view of their security from future destruction, let them not become, while forming their characters for life, so accustomed to disregard the moral sense of shame as to openly violate the Sabbath day in the street pastimes during its day or evening hours.

A TRUE FRIEND OF THE BOYS.

[Communicated.] STEALTHY MOVEMENTS.

The suggestion made through the-Telegraph of additional seats in the public grounds meets with favor, particularly by those from the central parts of the city—not indeed the "west movement of Major Bliss when factotem has resulted in an arrangement of certain hours to visit the President's grounds, which amounts to exclusion. This was originally intended, and it is a pity that too many are ready to betray an honest Executive into such traps, and thus impair his well-earned fame. But let him modify his approval of the plan of the grounds south of the President's House, so as not alone to secure a carriage gate-way for future military Presidents, but to preserve the circular roadwhich has been recognised by repeated appro priations-for it is well known that the mittee of Ways and Means had no idea that the usiness intercourse of the southwestern part of the city was to be completely cut off by this Besides, the under-drainage by the great sewers renders the scheme, if not impracticable now, at least very expensive, and the progress of the age is very much averse to encroachments upon the rights of the people. As the Commissioner of the Public Buildings is a frank friend of the President, he will doubtless let him know the wishes of THE MASSES.

[Communicated.]

"Jim, crack corn, he don't care!"

Can it be true that the managers of the Washngton Monument grounds have leased the same, and that the lessee, or proprietor in charge, will, perhaps, plant corn or potatoes, as in times past, upon the acclivities, and thus subject them to the abrasions of the rains and the for mations of gullevs? If so, the sooner the President enlightens them as to the intentions of Congress in the transfer, the better. Trees must adorn these grounds.

CHINA AND CALIFORNIA .- The San Francisco ournals are urging the construction of steamers o ply between that port and China. The Pa-Courier goes into details as to the manner n which the proposed vessels should be built. A few years must witness some great and onderful changes in the tendencies of commerce and in the relative conditions of nations as thereby affected. Soon the isthmus which separates the two great oceans will be an open thoroughfare, and tides of trade will flow without obstruction. Then the vast expanse of the Pacific will spread out its attractions to commerce and give easy access to the East, the land of traditionary opulence. China and Japan must soon feel the effects of these momentous approaches. The resistless current of trade must have its way, though it should sweep before it the wrecks of institutions as old as the annals of mankind.

From our Pacific coast we shall have a commanding position as it regards the commerce of No other commercial country can possess such advantages in that particular. What new relations may grow up from a state of things now promising so auspiciously, time can alone reveal; yet we may entertain the as-surance with confidence that the future results, whatever they may be, will tend to add to the growth, the strength, and resources of our Republic, and to our permanent influence among the nations of the earth.—Balt. Republican.

The disturbances in the interior of China, The rebels seem to have no particular aim, and the continued existence of the rebellion furnishes striking evidence of the lamentable weakness and imbecility of the Chinese govern-

The crew of another American vessel, wrecked at Japan, were recently taken down to Batavia by a Dutch vessel, from Nangasaki. It is supposed that on the arrival at Singapore, of an American frigate and a steamer, daily expected, the Hon. J. Balestier, United States Commissioner, will visit the Court of Jeddo, on a mission from the United States. The recent accession of the young Tuddoh to the throne gave rise to a report that Cochin China was again to be the field of the honorable gentleman's diplomatic labors.

CORNING, May 8 .- Railroad Accident .- The freight train going west last night was stopped about half-past eight o'clock, by some impediment on the track, four miles this side of Hornellsville. The engineer having stopped the train, found that they had run over and completely cut in two a man walking upon the track, having severed his head, neck, and shoulders from his body. The remains were taken to the abovenamed place, but have not yet been recognised by any one. One hundred and sixtyfive pennies were found on his person; also, a paper stating that he was deaf, dumb, and an idiot, and requesting charity to take him on to better quarters. As it was after night, no blame can of course be attributed to the engineer. The passenger train coming east last evening also ran over and killed instantly a valuable cow a short distance from our depot.

Boston, May 9 .- Baptist Mission in Siam detroyed .- Letters received by the Europa bring the intelligence that the Baptist Mission at Baugkob, in Siam, was entirely destroyed by fire on the 4th of last January, including the missionary dwelling. The fire originated in the house of a native near the mission, and the fire spread with such rapidity, that only a few articles were saved. The printing offices and stock, the bindery, type foundry, libraries, and nearly all the personal effects of the mission-aries were consumed. The loss is not less than $10,000. The missionaries were received into the residence of the Portuguese consul. Mr. Chandlee will return with all speed to America to repair the loss.

INCREASE OF BUSINESS .- An old merchant has just told us some curious facts, that show a change of the mode of doing business, that is now silently going on, as well as its great in-crease in this city. Some fifteen or twenty years ago, the banking business of Cincinnati was pretty much all done by the Branch of the Bank of the United States; and it was mentioned as a remarkable circumstance, that seventy-two notes fell due at that bank in one day, an astonishing number for those times. But times have changed, as is illustrated by the fact that one hundred and twenty-five notes matured at one private banking-house in this city last Saturday, as well as a proportionably large number at the other private and incorporated banks—probably not less than eight or nine hundred in all, (and they were pretty much all paid, too.) - Cincinnati Gazette.

A CAPTIVE RECOVERED. - The Fort Smith Herald says that Captain Marcy, at Camp Arbuckle has received from the Keechi Indians a boy, supposed to be a German, stolen when five years old, thin and delicately formed, light hair and sharp features. The Keechis said they had purchased him a considerable time ago from the Camanches. He had lost all recollection of any other than the Indian language,

The Pittsburg Journal states that contracts have just been closed in that city for building a mammoth steamer, which marks an era in Pittsburg steamboat building. This will be much the largest vessel ever built there, measuring eleven hundred and seventy-five tons, but carrying between fifteen and sixteen hundred. She is to be 310 feet by 40 feet beam, and is intended for the St. Louis and New Orleans

EXTENSIVE ADVERTISING is morally certain o work a revolution in trade, by driving thousands of the easy-going out of it, and concentrating business in the hands of a few who know how to obtain and keep it. Unite with this the substitution of cash for credit, and one-fifth of those now engaged in trade will amply suffice to do the whole, and will soon have it to do. The revolution is already begun.

The Cincinnati papers say that the frost on last Thursday night was very destructive to the fruit in that vicinity, the prospects for almost every description having been totally blighted. The mercury in the thermometer fell to thirtythree degrees, and ice formed to the thickness of more than a quarter of an inch.

FIRE .- The commission-house of W. H. Pope, in Louisville, was entirely destroyed by fire on Thursday last, with a large stock of bale rope, baggage, wine, &c. Loss about $20,000, which is partly covered by insurance. The grocery store of John Hayes was damaged to the amount of about $2,000: insured.

THE SUPREME COURT OF MISSOURI has deeided that the law of that State for licensing and taxing merchants is unconstitutional. Judge Napton read a dissenting opinion. The opinions of the concurring judges are exceedingly voluminous, filling nearly sixteen columns of the St. ber horse collars and saddles, which are inflated

The mass of the people regard as profound only him who suggests pungent contradictions of the general idea. In ratiocination, not less than mals—the horse. We shall then expect to see in literature, it is the epigram which is most immediately and the most universally appreciated. In both it is the lowest order of merit. Edgar A. Poe.

Seven Railway Engines, four of which are English, will compete on the Sommering Mountain, in the month of June, for the prize offered last year by the Austrian Government.

STRIKE AMONG THE CARPENTERS .- We find Philadelphia they have been on a strike since The disturbances in the interior of China, though serious and widely spread, do not appear to be of a nature to produce any immediate political result that can at all concern foreigners. They seem to extend over the greater part of Hunan and Kwangsi, and are reported to the labors of his calling, for such a pittance as they have heretofore received. We believe in the doctrine that the "laborer is worthy of his hire," and that the "laborer is worthy of his hire," and that one who devotes himself to labor should receive a fair and liberal compensation for his labors. We shall be happy to see this worthy class of our fellow-citizens succeed in their just and righteous demands; and may the churt who refuses to comply with their wishes have the condemnation of his own conscience, in addition to that of every liberal soul; and the time soon come when necessity will compel him to labor for the small sum he now gives those who toil for him. He will then know what it is to feel for others .- Balt. Argus.

> Boys' MARBLES .- There is something strange in the manufacture of these toys. The greater part of them are made of a hard stone found near Coburg, in Saxony. The stone is first broken with a hammer into small cubical fragments, and about 100 to 150 of these are ground at one time in a mill, somewhat like a flour mill. The lower stone, and which remains at rest, has several concentric circular grooves or furrows; the upper stone is of the same diameter as the lower, and is made to revolve by water or other power. Minute streams of water are directed into the furrows of the lower stone. The pressure of the runner on the little pieces rolls them over in all directions, and in about a quarter of an hour the whole of the rough fragments are reduced into nearly accurate spheres.

THOUGHTS.-To rebuild a character, after it has suffered from the effects of misconduct, is much like the reconstructing of an edifice after it has fallen to ruins. The labor of clearing away the rubbish and preparing a new founda-tion is often equal to, and sometimes greater than, that required for the superstructure Modesty is a diamond, which shows itself in the recesses of retirement; while ostentation, like ornaments of glass, require the glare of a public display to attract notice.

To convince a man that you are a fool, show him that you consider him to be one. In no way can you prove to him, more effectually, that you are wholly deficient in good judgment.

The mind which sees and feels no incentive to action is as irksome to itself as it is intolerant to others. It is only in the stir of life and activity of thought that we can experience delight. Temporary relaxation affords temporary comfort, but a life given to idleness possesses no ease.—Henry L. Harvey.

THE EFFECTS OF THE LATE FROST. - The main dependence of a large number of persons in the vicinity of the cities and villages is upon the sale of their fruit, which is always a cash article in its season. We have heard of no section "this side the mountains" that has not suffered ruinously, save along the lake shore; there it was cold, and snow fell, but the "lake fog" almost invariably protects the fruit from these killing frosts, which are so common elsewhere. We judge from the reports received that the loss will be much greater than at first supposed. East, west, and south of us, this side the mountains, the fruit and vegetables have been destroyed or greatly injured.

[Cincinnati Gazette, May 7.

Good News for Horses .- T. M. Coleman has filed a caveat for an improvement in India rubwith air, instead of being stuffed, as is now the case. If the air can be retained at the very point of pressure this will prevent chafing, and be a great relief to the noblest of domestic anithis invention in general use, as humanity demands that even to the creature "the back should be suited to the burden."-Harrisburg

IMPROVED REVOLVER .- Mr. C. Jillson, of Worcester, Mass., has made an improvement on revolvers, whereby twenty-four charges may be fired for one loading; and it is said to be as compact as Colt's.
